NILES 2026

The 8th Novel Intelligent and Leading Emerging Sciences International Conference (NILES2026)

22-24 October 2026

Scope

Novel Intelligent and Leading Emerging Sciences (NILES) is an annual international conference that is hosted and organized by Nile University, Egypt. All previous runs for NILES (2019 to 2025) were IEEE-sponsored and Scopus-indexed. The conference aims primarily at bringing together Researchers, Engineers, Academics, and Professionals from industry to share their innovative ideas, present their recent research work, and explore future trends in various areas of Engineering and Technology.

The 8th Novel Intelligent and Leading Emerging Sciences International Conference (NILES2026) will feature plenary speeches, panel sessions, poster sessions, and invited/special sessions. NILES2026 offers four main tracks, with the list of technical areas in each track given below. Other research areas that fall within the four tracks are also welcomed. Proposals for workshops or/and special sessions on new topics or innovative applications are also invited.

NILES2026 Technical Committee invites authors to submit 4-page papers (IEEE double-column format with references, figures, and tables showing the originality, significance, applications, and the techniques used in the research). For review, the full paper should be submitted anonymously (without author's names and without page numbers) in PDF format through EDAS.
